About Curative

Curative is a national leader in on-demand public health service programs and infrastructure. From rapid, mass-scale testing for COVID and to other essential services, Curative partners with communities to strengthen public health services with turn-key programs, easy-to-access experiences, and scalable infrastructure, keeping people everywhere safe, healthy, and informed. Curative is not a medical provider and is not engaged in the practice of medicine. All medical decisions are the sole responsibility of Curative Medical Associates, an independent physician group.
